

Competition demands that XM radio be allowed to continue to offer local traffic and weather. If local radio wants my business, let them earn it by improving their broadcasts. The FCC should not attempt to manipulate the market by removing a competitor. Listeners alone should decide which button to push on the face of their radios.